The Juno-nominated Canadian Chamber Choir takes to the stage at Quest University Canada for an evening of cutting edge choral performance that will feature the works of some outstanding Canadian composers. Joining the choir will be cellist Ariel Barnes, Principal Cello of the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra.

The choir is made up of 18–22 professional singers from across Canada, and under the direction of artistic director Dr. Julia Davids has been able to tour to all 10 provinces, lead workshops for thousands of choral enthusiasts, and release two critically acclaimed recordings. The choir's latest album, 'Sacred Reflections of Canada – A Canadian Mass' was nominated for a 2016 Juno Award for Outstanding Classical Recording: Vocal or Choral.

The Canadian Chamber Choir is pleased to return to BC for a week of performances and workshops—including its first ever concert at Quest—as it pursues its mandate of building community through choral singing.
